Discover Renoir's gift for showing love, friendship, and everyday emotion in this Impressionist exhibition. See couples waltzing in the summer air and lovers stealing a glance, families sharing a quiet moment and friends raising a glass, all through the eyes of an artist unmatched in capturing the complexities of how people connect.

Experience Renoir at his peak in the 1860s to 1880s, experimenting with style and theme to become an innovator of Impressionism.

Walk with him through Montmartre in his iconic painting 'Bal au Moulin de la Galette' (1876) from the Musée d'Orsay, Paris, on display in the UK for the first time. Explore the sun-dappled gardens and swirling dance halls of Paris through 40 paintings, brought together from collections across the world.

Linked through friendship and love, enjoy the tenderness and joy of some of Renoir's most modern, uplifting and admired paintings.
